How to use this guide

The Almanac is divided into two main parts, Listings by Province/Territory, School, and Listings by Discipline. In the Listings by Province you will find the following information:

School, URL
City, Province
email
telephone
Program name (credential awarded)
Program URL
[additional programs listed as needed]

Similarly, in the Listings by Discipline you will find the following information:

School, City, Province
Program name (credential awarded)
Program URL

The majority of post-secondary schools in Canada operate in English. Schools that operate in French are denoted by the inclusion of <Français> after the school name. Bilingual schools are denoted in the same manner, <English / Français> or <English / Innu>.

The School name is as listed by the institution, although names that begin with “The” are listed alphabetically by the next word [e.g. The University of Calgary is listed under U]. University and Université are considered to be alphabetically identical, as are College and Collège. The first URL is the general school website. The City listed is the institutional headquarters: some courses may be held at different locations.

The email listed is usually the address for general inquiries – unfortunately, many institutions have chosen not to post email addresses, requiring the user to contact them by telephone or using a web-based form. These schools have email listed as “no email address – use web forms”.

Telephone is the school's direct number (switchboard). Some schools have toll-free telephone numbers, but as these are usually not available for people outside of the country (or even the province) they are not listed.

Programs names are as given by the school. The Program URL leads to further information about the program. Credential awarded is abbreviated as follows:

| Doc:  | Doctoral degree                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

All headings in the Listings by Discipline are listed in both English and French, but are alphabetized in English. The titles for each discipline are followed by related program keywords.

Comment utiliser ce guide

L'Annuaire est divisé en deux parties principales, Inscriptions par province / territoire, école, et Inscriptions par discipline. Dans les Inscriptions par province, vous trouverez les informations suivantes:

École, URL
Ville, Province
courriel
téléphone
Nom du programme (titre accordé)
URL Programme
[programmes supplémentaires énumérés au besoin]

De même, dans les Inscriptions par discipline, vous trouverez les informations suivantes:

École, Ville, Province
Nom du programme (titre accordé)
URL Programme

La majorité des écoles post-secondaires au Canada fonctionnent en anglais. Les écoles qui fonctionnent en français sont désignées par l'inclusion de <Français> après le nom de l'école. Les écoles bilingues sont notés de la même manière, <English / Français> ou <English / Innu>.

Le nom de l'école est comme indiqué par l'institution, bien que les noms qui commencent par «The» sont classés alphabétiquement par le mot suivant (par exemple The University of Calgary est répertorié sous U). University et Université sont considérés par ordre alphabétique identiques, comme le sont College et au Collège. La première URL est le site de l'école en général. La ville est le siège énumérés institutionnelle: certains cours peuvent être tenues à différents endroits.

Le courriel indiquée est généralement l'adresse pour des renseignements généraux - malheureusement, beaucoup d'institutions ont choisi de ne pas publier les adresses courriel obligeant l'utilisateur à les contacter par téléphone ou en utilisant un formulaire basé sur le Web. Ces écoles ont courriel indiquée comme "no email address – use web forms". Téléphone est numéro direct de l'école (tableau). Certaines écoles ont des numéros de téléphone sans frais, mais comme elles sont généralement pas disponibles pour les personnes à l'extérieur du pays (ou même de la province) ne sont pas répertoriés.

Les programmes sont les noms que donnée par l'école. L'URL programme conduit à de plus amples informations sur le programme. Titres accordé est abrégée comme suit:

|       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Cert: | Certificat (généralement un an ou moins)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Dipl: | Diplôme (généralement deux à trois ans)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| UT:   | Program Transfert de l'Université (généralement deux ans, et semblable à un diplôme), également connu sous le nom Bachelor's Transfer, Associate of Arts, etc. Programmes UT permettent à l'étudiant de continuer pendant 2-3 années suivantes dans un établissement partenaire principal pour gagner un baccalauréat. |
| B:    | Baccalauréat                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| M:    | Maîtrise                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

Distribution of arts & culture programs

There are a vast number of ways to define arts & culture. For this almanac, they include such categories as animation, architecture, broadcast, dance, design, fashion, film, gaming, music, performing arts, visual arts, and writing. Heritage categories such as cuisine, language, religion, sport, and tourism were not included.

There are currently 197 public, accredited post-secondary institutions in Canada. Of these, a total of 151 have one or more arts & culture programs.

Distribution of Institutions and Arts & Culture Programs

Because the definition of a “program” varies significantly [from one week to 4+ years] amongst the schools polled, the total number of arts & culture programs was not calculated.

All else being equal, one would expect the number of institutions to be roughly proportional to the size of the population in each province or territory. As shown in the chart above, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan each have more than twice the number of institutions expected based on population distribution. Ontario has only 2/3 the expected number of institutions, while Québec's number is slightly high, but includes Cégeps which offer a mix of secondary and post-secondary programming.

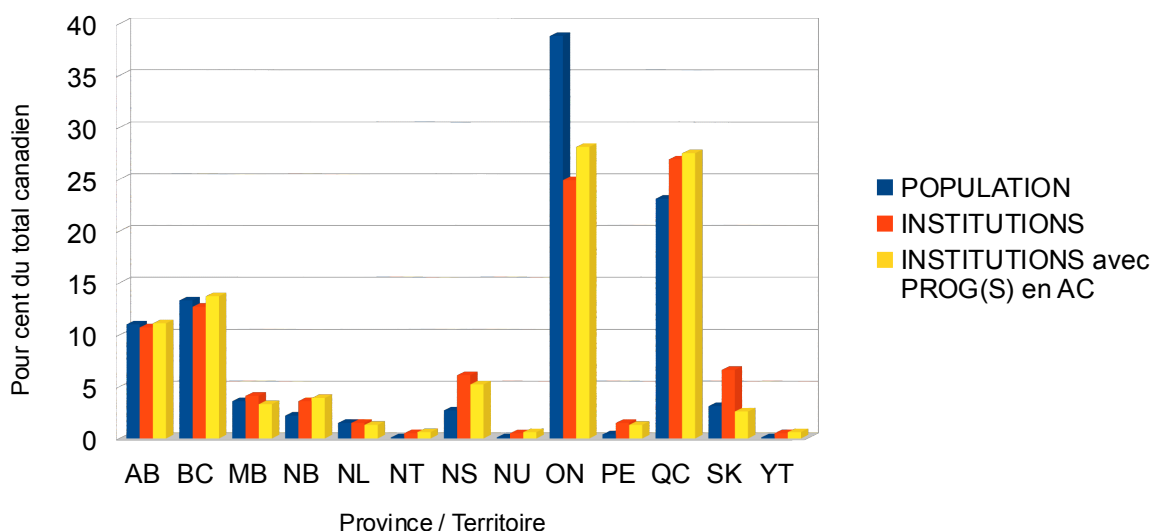

A similar trend is seen with distribution of arts & culture programs: Canada's Maritime provinces (New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island) and Québec are higher than expected, while Ontario has only 72% the expected number.

Répartition des programmes arts & culture

Il y a un grand nombre de façons de définir les arts et la culture. Pour cet annuaire, ils incluent des catégories telles que l'animation, architecture, cinéma, danse, design, diffusion, écriture, jeux, mode, musique, arts de la scène, et arts visuels. Catégories de patrimoine comme la cuisine, la langue, la religion, le sport et le tourisme n'ont pas été incluses.

Il ya actuellement 197 public, accrédité établissements postsecondaires au Canada. Parmi ces derniers, un total de 151 ont un ou plusieurs programmes en arts et culture.

Répartition des Institutions et Programmes en Arts et Culture

Parce que la définition d'un "programme" varie de façon significative (d'une semaine à 4 ans et +) parmi les écoles sondées, le nombre total de programmes en arts et culture n'a pas été calculé.

Toutes choses étant égales, on pourrait s'attendre du nombre d'établissements à être à peu près proportionnelle à la taille de la population dans chaque province ou territoire. Comme le montre le tableau ci-dessus, la Nouvelle-Écosse et la Saskatchewan ont chacun plus de deux fois le nombre d'institutions basées sur la distribution attendue de la population. L'Ontario a seulement 2 / 3 du nombre prévu d'établissements, tandis que le numéro de Québec est un peu élevé, mais y compris les cégeps qui offrent une combinaison de programmes du secondaire et post-secondaire.

Une tendance similaire est observée avec la répartition des programmes en arts et culture: les provinces maritimes du Canada (Nouveau-Brunswick, Nouvelle-Écosse et Île du Prince Édouard) et au Québec sont plus élevés que prévu, tandis que l'Ontario ne dispose que de 72% du nombre prévu.
